THE LAST WORD IN CYCLOPEDIAS
Discovery of South Pole and All Latest Information in This Modern Work.

Now that both the North and South Poles have been discovered, there won't be much more to do in the discovering line.

So now all there is to do is to read about these great discoveries. Where? Why? Everybody's cyclopedia has an account of them right up to date. Here is a new set of reference books, just off the press, containing absolutely the latest work in cyclopedias. There is nothing later.

Not only are the explorations noted which led to the discovery of the poles, but also the travels of Captain Scott, as well as Peary, Amundsen and other intrepid explorers, who have sought so long to reach the "ends of the earth."

To use a slang expression, this information is "right off the bat." This feature holds good throughout the entire set, and all of it is "bottle down" to the point of consciousness without losing any of the important points desired.

No reference work can be handled, and none is so useful for quick reference.

The introductory edition is going rapidly, and the offer must be withdrawn as soon as these complimentary sets are all distributed. See the coupon on another page of to-day's paper, and clip it at once.

MINISTERIAL STUDENTS JOIN IN ORGANIZATION

All Colleges in State Probably Will Have Branches of Alumni to Organize.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Durham, N. C., April 28.—The meeting of delegates from eight North Carolina colleges held at Trinity College Saturday and Sunday to consider the formation of a State Association of Ministerial Students resulted in the organization of the body under the name of the North Carolina Association of Ministerial Students. A. H. Parsley, of Chapel Hill, to whose efforts is due the meeting which brought about the organization, was chosen president, and C. B. Riddle, of Elon College, secretary. All colleges of the State are eligible to have branches of the association, and it is thought that its activities will be extended to cover the larger preparatory schools. The next session of the organization will be held at the university, at Chapel Hill, next fall. The delegates arrived Friday night and were entertained by the ministerial band of the college, which is headed by W. L. Scott.

In order to further promote the interests of the rural graduates of Trinity, the Athena Literary Society, composed of the co-eds of the college, is planning to give a luncheon to all alumnae of the college some time during a project to organize an alumnae association will be formally launched.

Mrs. J. E. Stagg has given to the library a valuable collection of books.

on Esq. This is not the first time the college has been remembered by Mrs. Stagg, for she gave, in 1911, the beautiful summer home which stands in front of the administration building.

Bijou—Lucille LaVerne in "Ann Boyd."

Stock Season Opens To-Night.

If the people of Richmond might have been given the opportunity to vote on the one actress to head a company for a summer engagement, it is highly probable that Lucille LaVerne would have been elected. Fortunately, without entering into a political campaign, Miss LaVerne has been selected. Not only was she chosen from among a number of actresses, but so highly was she thought of that she was given free rein to pick her own players and her own plays. For her opening night at the Bijou she selected her own dramatization of Will Harben's novel, "Ann Boyd." The play is of the kind which is said to have been a great success. But it is more than that. It tells a strong story well. W. S. Thorne will be the leading man, while a company competent above the ordinary will portray the characters. From the advance sale of seats it is highly probable that capacity audience will greet Miss LaVerne throughout the week.

Next Sunday The Times-Dispatch

Here are some of the attractive features which will be offered to its readers next Sunday:

By Molly Elliot Seawell.

The Great Cardinal

A story full of color, built in the romantic atmosphere of the north shores of England centuries ago, when knights were bold and love was often a question of swordsmanship.

By Harriet Prescott Spofford.

The Silk Dress

Not quite a tragedy, and yet bordering so close to it that the sudden angle which surprises the reader seems very much like the good old-fashioned melodrama.

Ellis Parker Butler

in one of his funny skits.

Gummy Squires and the Curse of Wealth

Mr. Butler certainly knows how to spin the arrow on the laugh meter. This is one of his good ones, too.

Wonderfully interesting articles by CARPENTER and by WATKINS.

The "DOOLEY" page (if he feels in the humor). SHORT STORIES and features; Society at home and abroad.
